

February 02, 2026: And Never Without the Last Word, The Fat Fuck Strikes Again

And always the showman of stupidity, at 4:05 a.m. this morning we have a helicopter flying over our house to wake up my family and show us who is 'above' us.

World, I am expressing to you with every ounce of truthfulness and proof that I can: the people currently running our United States military have become mentally ill with their need to project themselves as the powerful force of our world despite all evidence to the contrary.

They are absolutely obsessed with representing their evil as our 'lead' and with replacing our God with their satanic lust. Without fail, they place themselves as the position of heaven and everyone else in the position of 'lowliness' and submission.

I am continuing to alert you to the clear and present danger that is manifesting itself 'over' our home.

Sadistic traitors have taken control of the USA military.

Do you feel better now, soldier boy? Does that big engine between your legs make you feel like a real man? Vroom Vroom, you dickless losers.